(International News Service)

Germany stood pat today on her withdrawal from the Geneva disarmament conference and the League of Nations while the nations of Europe, the United States remaining outside the political discussions, consulted on their future course.

Reliable information from Berlin said the Hitler government would not resume disarmament discussions unless its demand for arms equality was guaranteed in advance and gave no encouragement to those who believe Germany may return to the league.

Opening the French Chamber of Deputies, Premier Edouard Daladier departed from his set speech to urge upon parliament a policy of moderation in dealing with the crisis, recommending postponement of debate on the arms issue until governmental finance problems have been dealt with.

He issued a challenge to Germany, however, demanding to know why she "shrinks from accepting" the disarmament plan proposed by France.

Look To Mussolini.

Delegates remaining at Geneva looked to Premier Mussolini of Italy to break the deadlock, opinion being expressed that he may choose to invoke his four-power pact to forestall an armament race.

Relief Administrator Seeks To Hold Up Prices
Of Beef

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Immediate purchases from the country's surplus beef cattle and butter stocks to check falling prices, and to build up the food supplies of the unemployed this winter were launched today.

Average beef cattle prices dropped from $9.97 per hundred pounds in July to $8.61 cents in August, with a glut approaching due to lower grades of cattle being sent to market as a result of economic conditions. Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator declared:

"Needy people on our relief rolls have not been supplied with nearly enough meat and butter, while cattle dairy and hog growers are suffering from poor markets."

The livestock purchases were sought with approval of the National Livestock Association. The entire program was developed jointly between Hopkins and George Peek, agricultural adjustment administrator.

The treasury approved $10,000,000 for the purpose, with the whole program to cost $15,000,000 of which part will come from processing taxes. Hopkins indicated he would seek these taxes on beef.

LET'S PUT IT OVER BIG TOMORROW NIGHT!

Before accepting the chairmanship of the Community Chest Drive I consulted about a hundred of the prominent citizens of New Castle about the need of the campaign and there was not a dissenting voice. The showing made last night was wonderful. The amount reported was $43,447.81, leaving a balance of $26,552.19 to be raised by tomorrow night to reach the desired goal of $70,000.

Many thousands of people in this city have not contributed. Some of course because they do not have the money, and many others just because they are indifferent.

I trust all will help so this matter can be ended tomorrow night.

New Castle is on the way back to prosperity and this will be a good advertisement to the world that we are alive.

Next report, Wednesday night at Cathedral.

Cheered by their campaign report of last night which showed that $43,447.81 of their subscription goal of $70,000 had been raised, Community Chest solicitors today renewed their intense solicitation in the hopes that by the next report session on Wednesday night the entire $70,000 may be reported.

Nearly 1,000 team workers, volunteers all, turned out for the rousing Cathedral rally of last night, and helped give vigorous applause when General Chairman Fred L. Rentz announced the first total reported.

Leader Is Gratiified.

"That's great," exclaimed General Chairman Rentz a moment after he announced the figure. "That shows that New Castle people will put this campaign across; it shows the spirit of our people today. It's that spirit which is going to carry New Castle back up to the high place she held as a real campaign city not long ago. I'm certainly proud of her tonight."

The vast Cathedral dining room echoed from end to end for a minute or so after the $43,447.81 had been announced.

Scheduled as a snappy dinner-meeting at which only necessary business would be transacted, the gathering of last night turned out to be exactly that. Workers were only detained long enough to have them report and for a word or so of instruction.

General Chairman Rentz presided over the report meeting, at times turning the meeting over to Director Bert Wells of the Chest organization.

After the audience had been entertained for several minutes by nine boys of the Ben Franklin junior high school, comprising a harmonica band which Daniel Raciappo, Franklin instructor, led, the general chairman called upon Attorney Thomas W. Dickey for a few remarks.

"Great Night!—Dickey.

"This is a great night in the history of New Castle," responded Attorney Dickey, referred to by Mr. Rentz, in his introduction, as "a real New Castle orator." "The spirit shown by these gifts reported tonight is certainly gratifying."

"Yes, friends, I'm sure that this is one of the biggest nights that New Castle has ever seen—history will record it as such," continued Mr. Dickey, noticeably cheered by the (Continued On Page Five)

SAYS SCHOOLS OF STATE NEED BIG FUND

Dr. Jas. N. Rule Discusses Need

Says Appropriation Of $11,000,000 Is Needed For Biennium

MANY SCHOOLS MAY BE FORCED TO CLOSE

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—Thousands of Pennsylvania's youth faced locked school doors and a denial of educational opportunities unless the commonwealth appropriates an additional $11,000,000 for the biennium, Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent of public instruction, asserted today in an interview.

Salary reductions, curtailment of activities, greater relief burdens, and a general closing of schools will follow if this sum is not received, he predicted.

Money Is Needed
According to the superintendent, educational finances will be included in Gov. Gifford Pinchot's proclamation summoning the legislature into extraordinary session some time next month.

"If the $25,000,000 bond issue is approved by the voters in November, it will clear the deck for us to get money," Dr. Rule explained. "If it is defeated, the legislature must raise the funds."

"I shall urge the $11,000,000 appropriation as an essential part of the recovery drive because wages must be kept at reasonable standards to continue purchasing power."

"If this special appropriation is not made and schools close in numbers that now seem certain, the additional drain on relief agencies will be greater than amounts for which we are asking. Closing of schools in some instances will throw virtually whole communities on relief."

Dr. Rule urged that $5,000,000 be set aside for assisting financially distressed districts. Five millions of the remainder is necessary, for teachers' salaries as paid under the Edmonds Act; $500,000 for transporting students; $300,000 for vocational education, and $96,500 for salaries of county and assistant county superintendents.

Because of the mad scramble for the money the state expects to collect on a liquor tax when repeal is realized, he sees little chance of the education department getting any of that revenue.

As a solution of the problem, he suggested adoption of an income tax or some other taxation system that "will make it possible for the state to carry a larger share of the cost of public schools and relieve the load on real estate."

Suggests Taxes
A graduated income tax would require an amendment to the state constitution and, consequently, could not be placed before the voters until 1938. A flat income tax or manufacturers' sales tax could be adopted at the proposed special session as an emergency measure.

Failure of the legislature to appropriate $11,000,000, Dr. Rule warned, will mean "further drastic cuts in teachers' salaries during the second year of the biennium." He regards this method of economy "directly contrary to the spirit of the NRA."

Suit Is Brought Over Farm Wages

Young Man Brought Out From Pittsburgh Fails To Satisfy His Employer

The case of John Blasco against Donald R. Painter, a Scott township farmer, in which Blasco sued for $24.50 alleged to be due him was on trial before Judge James A. Chambers, in court today. Painter who does trucking to Pittsburgh secured Blasco at Father Cox's Camp to work on his farm.

There was no specified wages promised according to his testimony. He testified that he told Blasco, a young man, that he would pay him whatever he was worth. Farm wages he said run from board and clothing to around $10 per month. Painter claimed that Blasco was not really worth his board and clothes, as he did not know anything about farm work. When he sent him out to work corn he would tear it out, would not go to the end of the row and in some places would cultivate every other row. His other farm work was about on a par with this Painter said.

When he left Painter said he gave Blasco $11 although he did not feel that he had earned his board. Blasco was there something over two months. The case went to the jury about noon.

clashed on a question of veracity. Sir John sharply denied Von Neutrath's charge that Britain's assertion Germany had suddenly stiffened her arms demands just before her withdrawal was "entirely inaccurate."

Postpone Debate.
PARIS, Oct. 17.—Moving cautiously, Premier Edouard Daladier today asked the French Chamber of deputies to postpone debate on Germany's withdrawal from the Geneva disarmament conference until after government financial matters have been dealt with fully.

Touching on the arms question after he had concluded his set opening speech, which avoided any mention of the issue, Daladier issued a challenge to Germany to prove the sincerity of her offer to give up her "last machine-gun and her last soldier."

"If Germany is willing to give up her last machine-gun and her last man," why does she shrink from accepting an equitable plan of disarmament by stages which France has proposed?" he asked.

Needs Consideration.
Germany's willingness to disarm completely was voiced over the radio last night by German Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, who called upon the other nations of Europe to do likewise.

"Germany's withdrawal from the league," Daladier said in urging the chamber to pursue a course of moderation, "creates a new and serious element which needs consideration by all countries concerned before any decision can be made."

Daladier concluded the extemporaneous portion of his speech by announcing France will be represented at Geneva when the disarmament conference reconvenes after its present adjournment on October 26.

U. S. To Keep Out.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Determined to prevent the United States from becoming involved in any European political imbroglio, President Roosevelt today decided to virtually pull out from Geneva until the European nations decide their answer to Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations and the disarmament conference.

Fearful lest the critical situation in Europe involve this country in political entanglements which might lead to another war, the president has ordered the American representatives at Geneva to keep out of the conversations which are to take place this week between the statesmen of the former allied powers.

The purpose of these conversations is to determine what steps will be taken in the light of Germany's startling decision to defy the world by withdrawing from Geneva. One of the primary purposes of the conversations will be to decide whether to convene the disarmament conference nine days hence or virtually abandon the movement for disarmament by indefinitely postponing the scheduled meeting of the conference.

President Roosevelt has decided the question of whether conditions are favorable to a continuation of the disarmament efforts is now a matter for Europe, not the United States, to decide.

As to the general policy of this country, the principles enunciated by President Roosevelt in his world peace message last May remain the basis of that policy.

In his message, the president supported the British disarmament plan, opposed any increase in existing armaments over and above the limitations of treaty obligations and proposed a universal pact of non-aggression under which all nations would agree to refrain from sending any armed forces across the frontiers.

one guard, Hall said, and he persuaded the youth to set him free, arguing with the guard the life imprisonment would be the penalty if the kidnaping plot were carried through.

The guard yielded and spirited him away from the factory building where he had been held since Friday without food, Hall declared.

Federal authorities questioned him for several hours.

At first demanding $15,000 ransom, the kidnapers later scaled their figure down to $9,000 and had written their demand to a friend whose name Hall had given them. Federal operatives were told.

Previous to Hall's release his business partner, H. L. De Lisle, told authorities he doubted that the student had been kidnaped.

BUTLER MUSIC CLUB PRESENTS PROGRAM

A large and appreciative audience was in attendance at the program given by the Tuesday Music Club, of Butler, for the New Castle Music Club, at Highland church, Monday evening.

As a pleasing beginning to a truly remarkable program, the trio, Mrs. William Sellers, violin, Richard Holman, cello and Miss Jean Marie Wiegand, piano, played two numbers. The even, easy flowing bass voice of Paul Moore was heard to a good advantage. The voices of the tenor Robt. Topping and bass Paul Moore blended perfectly in the "Hunting Song" by Bullard.

The ever popular "Valse" by Aronsky, a two piano number was well played by Miss Katherine Horan, and Miss Beatrice Locani. As an encore they played their own arrangement of Joyce Kilmer's "Trees". A group of baritone solos by John Brandon was well received. The brilliant clear cut phrasing of the pianist, Miss Marian Thompson, called for a frill number as an encore.

The truly lovely tenor voice of Mr. Topping was heard in "Oh, Moon of My Delight" by Liza Lehman and "Clouds" by Charles. Mr. Topping has an exceptional voice and good wishes of the New Castle Club go with him on the concert career he deserves. Full rounded and resonant tones were sung by Miss Esther Mapes, contralto, in her aria.

Reluctantly Miss Ruth Drescher, hostess for the evening announced that the Ladies Trio, composed of nine members of the Butler Club would bring to a close a very delightful evening. For their number they used Cadman's "Indian Song" and a Negro spiritual.

Flowers of every hue lent color to the lovely decorations used in the concert and tea rooms. These were the gift of Mrs. B. K. Thacker from her pretentious Dahlia garden.

Aides to Mrs. Clifford M. Propst in serving were Mrs. Elsie Kaplan, Mrs. Clinton Keagy, Miss Martha Magil and Miss Katherine McMillin.

Ushers of the evening were Miss Barbara Schutz, Mrs. Robert E. Fleming and Mrs. William J. Caldwell.

DR. EWERS SPEAKS TO WOMAN'S CLUB

"Nationalism is being riveted down on every nation" said Dr. John Ray Ewers, prominent pastor of the East End Christian Church of Pittsburgh as he addressed the members of the New Castle Women's Club in the Highland United Presbyterian church at their semi-monthly meeting Monday afternoon.

Mrs. E. F. G. Harper presided at the business meeting of the club preceding the address of the afternoon. The musical part of the program was in charge of Mrs. Paul Welsh, who introduced Miss Miriam Johnson, pianist of Ellwood City, who pleased the audience with her rendition of two numbers: "Butterfly Etude" by Chopin and "A Spanish Dance" by DeFalla.

Michael Caruso well known violinist of the city, accompanied by Mrs. Welsh, played "Cradle Song" by Brahms, "Barcarole," one of his own compositions and "Oxardas" by Mundi.

Mrs. Archibald H. Davis, Jr., chairman of the program committee introduced the speaker Dr. John Ray Ewers, who spoke on "Dictators." In opening his address Dr. Ewers said he would take the audience on a trip through the International Picture Gallery, but the pictures would be largely cubists and the futuristic; crude, hard and ugly depicting horrible international affairs.

He then briefly and hurriedly discussed the present situations in Italy, Russia, France, England and Germany.

He told of how Mussolini, dictator of Italy, a super-man, whose subjects try to imitate him, has brought the country up from the depths, how he had lifted up their chins, made the country over and added new beauties to the country through his organization of all bodies.

He then took his hearers into France, picking out the high spots of the present conditions there, showing how the country is prepared for war. His Russian picture depicted deplorable conditions as to the indifference to religion and the unhappiness of the peasants.

In England he said, the outstanding significant fact is her tendency toward nationalism. He spoke of Japan's increasing nationalism and even the tendency of the United States toward this same condition.

He dwelt at some length on the German picture, telling of the cunningness of Hitler in getting converts to his cause. He depicted these conditions in the various countries but, he concluded the countries of the earth must face the situation as it stands and do the best they can to overcome it.

At conclusion of his talk he answered many questions put to him by the women.

Mrs. O. P. Brown, chairman of the welfare department, announced that Miss Beulah Norris, a state welfare worker will be the speaker at the next meeting.

ANTIQUE QUILTS ATTRACT ATTENTION

Members of the Y. L. B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church enjoyed a tureen dinner at the church on Saturday, and during the afternoon entertained several hundred friends at an antique display.

Outstanding among the quilts displayed was one quilt owned by Mrs. Alexander of Princeton, which is one hundred forty years old and has seen service most of that time; it is still well preserved and the stitches show fine needlework; a home-spun candlewick spread more than one hundred years old came in for a lot of comment, as did many others. Modern quilts of pretty patterns were displayed, showing the needlework of the women of today.

Many old pieces of china were shown, among which was a sugar bowl three centuries old; an old spinning wheel was exhibited, as well as Paisley shawls and other articles valued as heirlooms among the families of the class.

Mrs. Albert Wilson and Mrs. Ira Alford were in charge of arrangements.

MEDICAL ADVICE

If you want to
... keep the bowel action regular and comfortable
... make constipated spells as rare as colds
... avoid danger of bowel strain
—use a liquid laxative

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills and tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can overcome this condition just by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels just as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative
The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" day or two later. Nor will it irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it!

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know what is in it, don't chance it. The contents of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is stated plainly on the label: fresh herbs, pure pepsin, active senna.

Its very taste tells you syrup pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. Drugstores have it ready for use, in big bottles.

THE TEST:
This test has proved to many men and women that their trouble was not "weak bowels," but strong cathartics!

First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative. Second: Take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the highest standing among liquid laxatives, and is the one generally used.

REED-DICKSON NUPTIALS TODAY

The couple has as their attendants, Mr. and Mrs. James Hanna, the latter a sister of the bride, Miss Marietta Dickson, sister of the groom and John Untch.

Attired in a smart sapphire blue velvet dress trimmed with ermine and turban to match, the bride presented a lovely picture. Her accessories were carried out in white.

Immediately following the exchange of vows, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson left on an extended motor trip to Miami, Florida, and upon their return will reside in New Castle.

GERMANY CROSSES THE RUBICON

BY ANNOUNCING its intention to withdraw from the Disarmament Conference immediately, and from the League of Nations after the required notice of two years, the German government has isolated itself from the family of nations.

Thus it has ended negotiations for the continued preservation of peace and amity.

It would be too much to say that all the hopes which have clustered about Geneva have been destroyed. If the other Powers stand firm, something may be saved from the wreck. The secretary of state has announced the determination of the administration at Washington to secure some agreement regarding the reduction of armaments by every means it can employ. But this is more a hope than an expectation. With Germany in her present mood, what nation can afford to dispense with its preparations for defence?

What can the other Powers do in the emergency?

One course is to go on with the Conference, in spite of the German defection, and draft a convention which Germany may sign if perchance she changes her mind. The statement of Secretary Hull implies that the United States would approve such a step, if there were no other means of saving the situation.

Another suggestion is that the Four Power Pact, of which Germany is a signatory, may be invoked for a fresh discussion of the disarmament question. Italy seems ready to agree to this, but France is opposed, and Great Britain is likely to stand with France. Moreover, the United States could take no part in proceedings of this kind. In any case, Germany has already violated the Pact.

A third course is to have Italy call a conference of the Great Powers, including the United States.

A fourth is to allow the Versailles Treaty to remain unchanged.

None of these expedients seems wholly practical. Germany has destroyed confidence asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer, and without that what are agreements worth? She has crossed the Rubicon, and there is no sign that she has any desire to recross it.

MACHINE GUN SALES

There may be two sides, as some have thought, to the proposed federal law against the interstate commerce in pistols, but surely there can be no reason for delay in the enactment of legislation to control the traffic in machine guns.

The subject is brought to the fore by testimony offered yesterday in the trial of George and Kathryn Kelly at Oklahoma City. A Fort Worth dealer swore on the witness stand that he had sold Mrs. Kelly the murderous implement alleged to have been used as a prop in the Urechel kidnapping drama. It was suggested that he also had provided the gang to which the Kellys belonged with two other weapons of the same kind. But three machine guns or one, it does not greatly matter. What is of importance is the fact that, in the absence of any legal hindrance to such transactions, there is nothing to prevent manufacture or middlemen from supplying criminals with one of the most deadly instruments ever contrived.

To thoughtful citizens a situation of this kind is a scandal. Governmental agencies of defense and police organizations, it may be, requires machine guns in the performance of their duty as guardians of the public safety; but by no conceivable distortion of logic can there be any excuse for further procrastination about prohibiting their sale to individuals. No private person ever should be allowed to possess a contrivance so drastically lethal. No private person can have any proper right to own such a weapon.

When congress meets again the problem should have immediate consideration.

WHO ARE INJURED BY FIAT MONEY

Who are the people first injured, and irreparably injured, by the issuance of fiat money?

1. Every wage earner and every salaried man or woman, for wages and salaries never keep pace with the wildly rising prices caused by uncontrolled inflation.
2. Every insurance policy holder.
3. Every savings bank depositor.
4. Every member of a building and loan association.
5. Every holder of a bond or mortgage of any kind.
6. Every endowed school, hospital, college or university or charitable institution.
7. Every taxpayer, for the cost of government of all kinds in a fiat-money market grows by leaps and bounds.

Who on the other hand profits by uncontrolled inflation?

1. The speculator, for by his manipulations he can take advantage of wild fluctuations.
2. The holders of equities represented by common stock in corporations, though this class, while numerous, constitutes but a small fraction of the whole public.
3. The man who owes money on a mortgage or a note. He may mistakenly think it to his advantage to pay off his obligations in cheap dollars, but his own earnings will be so sadly affected and the cost of the things he must buy so greatly increased that this seeming advantage is swept away before the disaster which finally overwhelms the entire economic structure.
4. Bankers, to the extent to which cheap money makes it possible for bad loans to become good and be repaid, and so do not fall as a burden on the capital and surplus of the banks, but in the long run the banks lose because of the total demoralization which sets in on all values.

The danger to which the country is exposed at the moment can not be exaggerated. The need of the president of your support and ours is unmistakable. The forces in the nation that are eager for disruption of our present economic system, and are intent upon the redistribution of wealth, see their chance and will capitalize it in every possible way.

The president has shown every disposition to fight these radical demands. He is entitled to the support of every man and every woman in the country who believes in the American system of government, who has a stake in the present economic system, and who is opposed to the rise in America of that type of irresponsible political dictatorship which now scourges Germany.—Chicago Daily News.

Where you start doesn't matter as much as what.

WHAT MAKES HAPPY MARRIAGES?

Often you wonder what possible attractions brought about the marriage of certain couples.

Frequently you remark, "I don't see what she sees in him—or he." You might be surprised that that same question has been raised among those who know you and your life partner.

In some ways you may be more attractive than those you criticize. You may excel in face and figure. But in disposition and temperament you may be really inferior.

Good looks and the ability to wear clothes well, won't make a marital success in life.

To be bright and snappy in conversation, energetic and enthusiastic in projects, does not guarantee that that person will make a pleasing or satisfactory helpmeet.

Something more is required to provide a lifetime of real companionship.

Often the person of plain features, apparently of the most ordinary attainments, proves to be a true success as a companion.

The qualities of understanding, kindness of heart and sympathy go far to make life comfortable and hearts at peace, among married folk.

"NIRA" IS A TOWN.

For many years the post office in the little town of Nira, Iowa, has rarely served more than a score of persons daily.

One morning recently, a long line of people, stretching out through the door and into the street, were waiting for the office to open. Most of them were stamp collectors who wanted some of the new NRA issue of stamps commemorating the National Industrial Recovery Act, whose abbreviation in initials have brought fame to the little Iowa town.

The new stamps first went on sale in Washington, but by special request, the second offering, 200,000 went to the Nira, Iowa, post office.

Besides selling stamps, thousands of letters daily are now coming in to get the "Nira" postmark on them. In addition to the postmaster and his family of seven, two extra clerks and a postal inspector from St. Louis are busy in the little office canceling and redistributing the request letters.

THE ANT WORLD.

As I was playing golf today
Across a patch of grass I trod
And something strange upon the sod
Caused me in wonderment to stay.
Ant hills of earth in little mounds,
Resembling pyramids of old,
The story of a region told
Where ceaseless energy abounds.

I'd seen them many times before,
But curiously then thought I
A world beneath my feet must lie.
A world which men cannot explore.
These busy creatures tug and strain
And daily scurry to and fro, Tunnelling the mighty earth beneath,
Not thinking all their toil is vain.

Man goes about his tasks and games
And knows his world and its affairs,
Its pleasures and its daily cares.
His goal his whole attention claims.
But here's the ant world fraught with strife
Building its pyramids of sand,
And if we could but understand,
Sharing the mystery of life.

KNOW ANY BIGGER? Most readers, writes John F. Harmon, Louisville, Ill., are familiar with the stories of Kansas storms. As we lived some time in that windy state we can testify that they do have some mighty blows out there. Some people think that the stories about Kansas cyclones are only jokes.

We heard of one man who moved from Missouri to western Kansas who did not believe in any of the storm stories. He hooted at them and declared that he was not afraid of all the storms that ever blew across Kansas. He boasted so that his wife warned him and told him that some great judgement would come upon him for his blasphemy. But her warnings only made him worse.

When he saw threatening of a coming storm he would go out and shake his fist at it and declare that he could side track or swallow any cyclone that came his way. One day all indications pointed to a coming cyclone. He went out in a yard and mocked the on-coming storm: "While his mouth was open cursing the storm the cyclone broke on him in great fury. The full force of it struck him in the mouth. His wife and boy looking out of the window heard a fearful noise and saw him bound up in the air more than 20 feet and then drop to the ground standing on his feet.

The storm passed instantly and when the wife and boy ran out they saw a fearful sight. The cyclone had struck him in the mouth and turned him completely inside out.

The frightened boy bridled a nearby horse and rode furiously into a near-by town after a doctor and he was so frightened that he stopped at the first doctor's sign and told him to jump on the horse behind him quick. The boy was so frightened that he could not explain and the doctor seeing that something desperate was the matter got on the horse and rode back.

Now the boy not being familiar with the different kinds of doctors had gotten a horse doctor. The horse doctor said when they got there, that he never before in all his life had seen such a sight. The man was still standing turned inside out and his wife was scared into hysterics.

But the horse doctor began work on the man at once and it took him the boy and a hired hand more than two hours to turn him back again and even then it was two or three days before the man felt like himself. That experience however, cured him of sneering at Kansas cyclones, but he never got over growling because the horse doctor charged him four dollars for only two hours work.

You can't blame the doctor. The more he scares you, the more wonderful he seems when he cures you.

Pork Purchases Believed To Lack Definite Results

Government Campaign For Improvement Of Market Assumed To Be Largely Experimental And Marred By Lack Of Co-operation

Study of the campaign of the government to improve market conditions by purchase of hogs has resulted in some skepticism as to the results. It is observed that fewer hogs were delivered than the promoters of the plan had expected, with resulting prospects of maintained production, while in the carrying out of the whole campaign there was, it is charged, lack of adequate cooperation.

"The government was merely doing for the pig industry what the weather did to the wheat and corn industries," says the SAN ANTONIO MERCURY HERALD with recognition of the fact that while some persons had protested against waste, "there were more hogs than the market could absorb at a price compensating the farmers for their labor." Adding that "to save the hogs was to waste farm labor," the Mercury Herald contends: "Nor was the waste confined to farm labor. The agricultural population being unable to buy machinery, automobiles, furniture and other articles needed, the factories making them had to close down, thereby wasting the labor of their employees. The depression is the result of the accumulated wastes. In projecting its food destruction program, the government was thinking of this angle of the problem. To prevent the waste of labor in agriculture was to prevent the waste of it in manufacturing industries. Assuming the value of the food destroyed was less than the value of the labor conserved, the transaction would show a profit. The meaning of the program is that the fundamental waste problem in our industry is balancing supply and demand in all industries. Because the war threw them out of balance in all countries, we are suffering an unprecedented depression."

Noting the deficiency in the delivery of hogs under the government program the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS comments: "The government could not force farmers to bring in the hogs, but relied on their cooperative spirit. The response of the farmer was to keep the hogs. He felt that the destruction of pigs would strengthen the market early next year, and wishes to be prepared to make the most of it. His failure to cooperate thus undermined the plan to a considerable extent. The department of agriculture now knows that the short corn crop did as much as anything else to force the pigs on the market, for many farmers could not afford feed."

"So long as the entire distribution system was out of kilter," thinks the DES MOINES REGISTER, "and heavy market receipts were only adding to the supply of finished meats which could not be sold, the only hope was to adopt some such temporary expedient as was actually called into play, with the object of relieving the trade 'jam' and restoring the normal flow of normal quantities of meat into consumptive channels. While the result is not yet clearly readable, the hope is that the aim of the emergency program is already on the road toward achievement. Hog prices rose rapidly, even while the government purchases were inducing abnormal shipments. Two or three months from now, the consequence of taking six million head of hogs out of the winter market may be markedly visible. That, and not the present emergency program, will judge the efficacy of the pig purchasing plan."

Observing that the administration "is wisely trying to experiment in new deviations from the old grooves of love-letter!" Gladys: Oh, didn't you know? Bob writes those descriptions of missing people for the police.

Notables Born On This Date.—Child: Lassam, b. 1859, distinguished painter & etcher of New England & Long Island landscapes & Manhattan towers & streets. Thomas Fortune Ryan, b. 1851, American financier. Jean Arthur, b. 1906 & Marian Marsh, photoplay actresses.

1705—Anne de Lenclous (Long-ko), called Nnon de Lenclous, died, aged 90. She was celebrated as a beauty & courted by the great men of Europe until the year of her death. Artists, guided by contemporary portraits by many masters, rate her as one of the 10 greatest beauties. But she had brains, too. Brought up by her father (who died when she was 15) as a boy, she began at 16 a long career which included affairs with 2 marquises, 2 marshals of France, Prince de Condé the Great, numerous other dignitaries. Mme. de Sevigne, La Rochefoucauld, Moliere, La Bruyere & other literary greats frequented her salons and in the words of Janin, hers was spoken and theirs was written eloquence. She was a linguist, an authority on military strategy & tactics and she played many musical instruments. Mme. de Maintenon, mistress to King Louis XIV, paid tribute to her as France's greatest woman, invited her to live at Versailles. The celebrated Queen Christina of Sweden traveled to Paris especially to see her, declared that she had seen nothing there more attractive than Lenclous. (Who was then 40) When she was in middle age, one Lord Villiers, 19, who did not know he was her son, fell in love with her, begged to marry her, blew his brains out when she revealed their relationship.

1853—America's greatest "soldier of fortune" began his career. "Gent" William Walker, aged 29, Tennessee aristocrat, schooled in Europe in medicine & law, sailed from San Francisco with 75 followers to establish a pro-slavery republic in Lower California. The venture failed, but he won the attention of Nicaraguan rebels, was induced to join in a war of liberation. He went there with 55 men, made himself first generalissimo, then president.

1907—The first regular commercial wireless dispatch was transmitted across the Atlantic, as service between Cape Breton, Canada, and Clifden, Ireland, began. (Five years before it is claimed, William Marconi had sent the first wireless signal across the ocean.)

1931—The government finally took Al Brown, called Al Capone, for a ride. Unpunished murderer, dope-dealer, liquor-law violator, gambler, extortionist, gambling-house & house of prostitution operator, blackmailer & practical anarchist, he was convicted of violation of the income tax laws, sentenced to 11 years in Atlanta penitentiary.

Former Westminster Man To Head Observance Of Freedom Of The Press

Two centuries of the freedom of the press will be celebrated at St. Paul's church, Eastchester, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., later this fall, with the anniversary in charge of Rev. W. Harold Weigle, a former Westminster college man. Rev. Weigle is pastor of historic St. Paul's church. The event will be attended by hundreds of writers and publishers, to commemorate the work of John Peter Zenger, a German printer, whose liberal newspaper published in 1733 set the precedent for the doctrine of the Freedom of the Press. Addresses will be made by Colonel Robert B. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune and Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation. The story back of the persecution of Zenger begins in 1731 when King George appointed William S. Cosby governor of New York. Cosby delayed his arrival for 13 months and a Dutchman named Rip Van Dem, president of the New York assembly, took over the duties and collected the fees. When Cosby arrived he demanded the money, which Van Dem refused. Lewis Morris, chief justice of the supreme court at that time, gave judgment in favor of Van Dem and Cosby removed Morris. Morris was asked to run for the Assembly and Crosby disfranchised the Quakers who wanted to vote. Zenger then began a weekly paper in which he exposed the corruption of the provincial government and was thrown into jail for his work. For seven months he languished in jail until finally Andrew Hamilton, a brilliant lawyer from Philadelphia, took his case and freed him. Hamilton's address to the jury in the case was one of the masterpieces of the Colonial days. The date for the ceremonies is October 28.

Mr. Fred Rents,
President of New Castle News:

Dear Mr. Rents:

After summarizing and understanding, through practical knowledge and experience in the past, I find that our community is still lacking a very important institution, and knowing that you are always interested in the welfare and interest of the people of our community, I am not going to hesitate in asking you for your cooperation, as I know that you will feel in accord with me.

Our City, as well as other cities, has had a lot of suffering mostly due to account of the unemployment situation, and has also unjustly made a lot of people owe a lot of unintentional debts.

Therefore, I am setting up a free legal aid bureau available to all who come in good faith and who cannot afford to pay a regular attorney's fee. It will offer free service to the needy without regard to religious affiliation. Besides legal aid is almost as important in our complicated modern life as medical care.

The Bureau will handle all civil cases for people that are in distress.

Yours truly,

SEEK TO PLUG LOOPHOLES IN INCOME TAX LAWS

Congress Will Tackle Problem

To Devise Plan To Prevent Tax-Dodging Schemes By "Big" Men

PROBE HAS SHOWN SOME WEAK SPOTS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Congress, on its return, will be asked to plug a series of loopholes in the federal income tax law, through which the government has lost millions of dollars of revenue in recent years, it was learned today from members of the senate committee, investigating Wall Street.

The loopholes were disclosed during the senate's stock market inquiry, which delved into the income tax returns of Wall Street's great private bankers. The inquiry revealed that some of the nation's richest private bankers either avoided entirely or paid but nominal federal income taxes since the great crash of October, 1929, despite gross profits running into millions of dollars.

Schemes Are Bared
Ferdinand Pecora, the senate special counsel, bared these tax-dodging schemes in order to furnish information on which to base a revision of the income tax law, he revealed that partners in J. P. Morgan & Company, Loeb & Company and Dillon, Read & Company, Wall Street's greatest triumvirate, had taken advantage of the law to escape income taxes.

J. P. Morgan himself escaped federal taxes in 1930, 1931 and 1932, although his income ran into millions of dollars. He charged off depreciation in his stock investments against his great income. This was permissible under the capital gain and loss provisions of the law. Otto Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, also escaped income taxes by the same provision. On the other hand, Clarence Dillon, head of Dillon,

Read & Company, did pay income taxes but his payments were only nominal.

Seek Amendments
Members of the investigating committee were hesitant about repealing the capital gain and loss section. They realized this section would insure heavy revenues as soon as business recovers but they hoped to find some amendment preventing its use to avoid taxes in depression years.

They were determined to prohibit a number of pure tax-dodging schemes, worked out by clever lawyers, to evade the income tax law. These were used by partners in the great banking firms. As revealed by the inquiry, a few of the schemes were:

1. Thomas S. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Company; sale of stock to his wife, lending her the money to make the purchase and taking a note in return. Later, he repurchased the stock by the simple expedient of tearing up the note. The plan saved Lamont $1,440.29 in taxes.

2. William Ewing of J. P. Morgan & Company; creation of four trust funds for his children, with himself and his wife as trustees selling stocks short for the trust funds, then lending their personal stocks to the funds to cover the short sales and taking the proceeds as security for loan of the stocks. The government tried to collect $60,887.13 from Ewing and $52,528.13 from his wife but their plan was foolproof.

3. Otto Kahn, head of Kuhn, Loeb & Company; sale of a bloc of stock to his daughter, Mrs. Maud E. Marriott on December 30, 1930, while she was in Europe, and assignment of the stock back to Kahn three months later without compensation. Kahn charged off a $117,000 loss on his income tax return. The government tried to collect a tax on this sum but Kahn's plan was held legal.

4. James V. Forrestal of Dillon, Read & Company; creation of a Canadian corporation with Forrestal trading his security holdings for stock of the company, the Canadian company selling the stocks later without being subjected to American income taxes. Forrestal then created a Delaware Corporation into which he passed the stock of the Canadian Corporation, so he could escape Canadian inheritance taxes in event of his death.

5. J. P. Morgan & Company; creation of a Canadian corporation with Forrestal trading his security holdings for stock of the company, the Canadian company selling the stocks later without being subjected to American income taxes. Forrestal then created a Delaware Corporation into which he passed the stock of the Canadian Corporation, so he could escape Canadian inheritance taxes in event of his death.

U. S. Home Loan Bank, Year Old, Releases Record

Today Finds 10 Of 12 Regional Banks On Profit Side; Growth Rapid

Today, after only a year's activity, ten of the 12 Home Loan Banks throughout the United States are operating at a profit, William F. Stevenson, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank board, announced today as he summarized activities of the bank system on the first anniversary of its establishment.

Regular Progress Made
Pointing out the steps which have been taken toward the development of a permanent national reserve system for home mortgage credit, Chairman Stevenson, from his Washington office, declared in part:

"Starting from scratch a year ago, the Home Loan Bank system on October 10, 1933 included 1,766 members, represented by building and loan associations, mutual savings banks and other home mortgage institutions whose applications for membership have been approved by the board. Loans authorized by the regional banks amounted, on October 10, to $22,332,869 and actual loans advanced to member institutions aggregated $70,028,318. Such advances are being used largely by the borrower members for granting mortgage loans to home owners for new building construction, repairs and remodeling."

Affects 66 Million
Mr. Stevenson said that in view of its creation and development as an adequate reservoir for home loan credit, the Home Loan Bank system is of personal significance to more than 60 million people in the United States who hold home mortgages, either directly or in the form of security behind their bank deposits, insurance policies and investments in building and loan associations.

Ministers Meet; Hear Of Relief

Minister Tells Of His Work In Charge Of Relief Administration Of County

At the weekly meeting of the New Castle Ministerial association held Monday morning in the First Presbyterian church, Dr. G. S. Bennett, who is in charge of the Lawrence county relief, gave a most illuminating address on the problem of administering relief.

Dr. Bennett stated that at the coming election the voters would be called upon to decide a very important matter affecting relief. He referred to the eighth amendment, which relates to the bond issue. "If this bond issue fails to pass," he declared, "the state of Pennsylvania will be cut off from federal emergency relief funds, and our state-aided hospitals and institutions and our state-aided schools will be similarly affected."

After the address a motion was unanimously passed that the association favor the passing of the eighth amendment relative to the bond issue, and that the constituency of the association be urged to vote in favor of it.

Next Monday the meeting will be addressed by Dr. C. G. Farr, who is soon to leave New Castle.

Franklin High Wins Another

Ben Franklin Junior High Takes Measure Of Union High Reserves 16 To 7

DECAPRIO-PIATEK STARS OF GAME

Ben Franklin junior high football team added another victory to the string of successes, Monday afternoon at Taggart Field by taking a 16 to 7 verdict over a fighting Union High Reserve team. It was the first time in sixteen games that Franklin High has been scored upon. Piatek turned the trick by racing about 50 yards behind good interference shortly after the opening kickoff. Annerella plucked the extra-point for Union. The Gillaspie coached team was too strong for Union.

Dom Decaprio the sterling half-back was sent in to replace Kingaro and responded a short time later with Franklin's first touchdown on a reverse play. Mumford plucked the extra point, to deadlock Union at 7-7.

During the second half of the game the Franklin offense started to click and Decaprio went over from the 25-yard line on a beautiful run after taking a reverse. The extra-point was made by Mumford taking a pass from Zingaro. Franklin High unleashed a fine aerial attack in the third period with Mumford tossing to Decaprio, for many fine gains.

Early in the fourth period the Franklin team drove the Unionites back into the shadows of their goal line and a bad pass from center forced Annerella to fall on the ball back of his own goal line on an attempted punt. This was recorded as a safety for Franklin High.

The defensive work of Russo, Jokinen and Outlowski featured for the Franklin High team, with Hagarty, Piatek, Wimer and Annerella the best bets in the Union lineup.

Baseball Season Will Be Shorter

Big Leagues Will Start Play April 17, And Close September 30

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Major League baseball will be delayed one week in opening for the 1934 season to escape some of the bad weather, it was announced today by President William Harridge of the American League.

Representatives of National and American League arrived at the decision to shorten the season at a secret meeting held during the last World series, Harridge said.

The usual 164 game schedule will prevail in 1934, the season opening April 17 and closing Sept. 30.

The agreement represented a compromise between National League officials who favored going ahead as in other years and American League moguls favoring an April 24 opening. Most National League officials proposed a 168 game program.

Harridge said the actual drafting of the 1934 schedules will not be made until Pennsylvania votes next month on the blue laws prohibiting Sunday baseball.

No action was taken on the proposal to reserve one month of the season for games between teams of the two circuits.

Goodballet Stops Rocco; Joe DeMott Fractures Arm

New Castle patrons of boxing were treated to another fine eight-bout program of amateur boxing last night at Castle Bowl with Eddie Fritz as matchmaker. A crowd of close to 1500, three hundred of whom were women, witnessed the show despite the fact that the thermometer was having its little inning with plenty of raindrops. In the feature bout on the well balanced card Custy Marino of Ellwood City greeted a decision over Ray Atkinson of Ellport, Pa. There were four knockouts in the eight bouts. One of the bouts ended unfortunately when Joe DeMott of New Castle suffered a broken arm in the second round of his bout with Walter Burns of Ellport, Pa.

Owens Gets Ned
The first bout on the card brought together Mike Rubin of New Castle and Steve Daugherty of East Liverpool, Ohio. Daugherty won the decision over Rubin by better punching and cleaner blows. This was a bout in the 147 pound class.

Eddie Owens of New Castle decided Billy Del Prince of New Castle in the second bout on the program, in a good exhibition. Owens was the clearest of the two. He landed the more solid punches. The decision was unanimous for Owens. This was a bout in the 140 pound class.

Frankie Rachig Wins
Frankie Rachig of Beesemer continued his winning ways at the Bowl by taking the nod over Kid Plummer, of New Castle in a bout in the 135 pound class. Rachig was far too clever for Plummer. Plummer looked better than he did the first time out. The decision was unanimous. Joe DeMott of New Castle lost on a technical knockout to Walter Burns of Ellport, Pa., in the four bout on the card in the 135 pound class. This bout had a misfortune ending when both boys fell down in the center of the ring in the second round. DeMott came up with a broken bone in his left arm. This was a great little scrap until the middle of the second round when the accident occurred. DeMott being unable to continue left Burns with the technical knockout. Ed Fritz had DeMott sent to the hospital for treatment.

Evans Wins by K. O.
Joey Evans of Ellport, Pa., was too strong for Joe Backo of Springdale, Pa., in the fifth bout on the card, in the 120 pound class. In the second round Evans put over a naysayer to the jaw and Backo took the count. Evans looked very good. He was hitting nicely and timing his blows.

The sixth bout on the card in the 147 pound class was won by Red Cickosky of Meadville, Pa., over Mike Olercheck of Springdale, Pa. Cickosky was the better puncher of the two boys. Olercheck made a fine finish in the third round and came close to winning the nod, but the Meadville boy had won the first two rounds by a big margin. The judges gave the fight to Cickosky while Referee Jones favored Olercheck.

Rocco Losses

In the seventh bout George Rocco of Ellwood City was knocked out by Keith Goodballet of East Liverpool, Ohio in the second round. Goodballeta two fluted attack was too much for the Ellwood City boy to fathom. The first round was fairly even with both boys landing solid punches to the head and body. Midway of the second round Goodballet got Rocco in a neutral corner and sent many stiff punches into the Ellwood boy. He went down for the count. He calms he misjudged the count and did not get up before 10 was called.

Marino Wins

The eighth and final bout in the 140 pound class brought down the house. It was Custy Marino the pride of Ellwood City amateur boxer against Ray Atkinson of Ellport, Pa. conqueror of Tony Adams on two previous occasions at the bowl. They resembled pros as they stood toe to toe and slugged from start to finish. Marino landed the cleaner blows. He rocked the Ellport boy with several solid punches. It was the third round finish that gave Marino his margin of victory according to the judges Lou Brady and James J. Dunn who cast their ballots for Marino. Referee Jones marked his ballot for Atkinson.

Eddie Fritz as matchmaker scored another success last night. There will be another amateur boxing show in two weeks at the bowl it was announced. The timer was Peter Capitolo and Charles "Bugs" Walther did the announcing. B. J. Blondi, deputy represented Harvey Boyle, State commissioner.

With Approach Of Hunting Season Rigid Rules Laid Down For Hunters

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Pity the poor civilian conservation camp recruit in the big woods during hunting season!

Thousands of city tenderfoot hunters, armed with everything from mail order shot guns to granddad's muzzle-loader will be flocking to the woods to hunt deer.

The authorities feared from past observations some of them might be somewhat hazy as to what a deer looks like. Accordingly game wardens of each state have been directed to see that hunters, real and otherwise, are shooed away from areas where camps are situated.

This order will be rigidly enforced.

New York Woman Charges Democrats Retarded Recovery Efforts

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17.—Democratic members of the United States House of Representatives and Senate retarded recovery in Herbert Hoover's administration, a Republican congressman's wife told women leaders of the party here Monday.

"We cannot contemplate the lack of support for President Hoover without realizing how much recovery this was retarded," declared Mrs. Robert L. Bacon, wife of a New York Republican congressman.

The Democratic aim, she asserted, "seemed to be to throw as many monkey wrenches into the machinery as possible."

Mrs. Bacon spoke at an executive session of the National Council of the Women's National Republican Club of New York, called to discuss politics and battle lines for the next campaign.

STOCKS

Stock Market
Rallies TodayActive Dealings In Market
Today Sends Prices Few Points HigherWHEAT UNABLE TO HOLD GAINBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial WriterNEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Meeting support after yesterday's sharp decline, the stock market rallied today in active dealings.The rebound was accompanied by considerable irregularity in a number of issues as further forced selling came into the list following the recent decline.A spurt in grains helped the rise in stocks. Wheat showed opening gains of as much as 4 cents a bushel while oats, corn and rye were strong.
Cotton, snapped back 1¢ a bale and other commodities were better.Stocks displayed considerable hesitancy on the recovery, however, reflecting the jolt to sentiment by the break in prices since the liberty loan conversion plan was announced.The dollar weakened, falling to 69 cents gold after being up to 71 cents yesterday. Gold currencies were especially in demand. Bonds were mixed.Stocks opened on a steeper note even though a few issues such as the tobacco, food and automobile were weak. Support was apparent in the mining list. Steels, liquors and rails with National Distillers showing an overnight jump of 4 points.Oils were benefited by the announcement that the control board headed by Secretary of Interior
Ickes had decided to fix prices at $1.11 a barrel for crude oil.The rise in the treasury's daily gold price helped the gold shares.
Wheat was unable to hold all its gains as heavy profit-taking developed immediately after the opening, and fell nearly 3 cents a bushel from the top. This brought some selling into other markets but support was still maintained and a steady undertone was apparent.STOCK PRICES

Woman Witness Heard Today In McClure Trial

Tells How Ring Took Care
Of Members Families
When Men Were Sent To Jail

DEFENSE COUNSEL IN CONTROVERSY

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—Additional details of how the liquor "protection" ring which the government charges was headed by State Senator John J. McClure, of Delaware county, "look care" of the families of its members who were imprisoned for their activities were given today by a woman witness as she continued her testimony against the legislator and 76 others on trial in a liquor conspiracy.

The trial resumed in an atmosphere of tenseness as the result of the second heated clash between the array of defense counsel and Chief A. Keyes, special United States attorney general.

Keyes drew the fire of defense counsel by placing a stenographer near the jury box to note remarks he charged were made by William T. Connor, of counsel for the defense, in a tone inaudible to the judge but loud enough to be heard by the jury.

A tape measure was called into play today when defense attorneys demanded the stenographer be placed at least 10 feet away from their table so they could converse privately.

Keyes declared he will present the stenographer's report to the Philadelphia Bar Association. Connor was reprimanded by Judge George A. Welsh.

The first witness today, Mrs. Margaret Conley, wife of Thomas M. Conley, a former Delaware county constable, testified she had considered suicide because of the privation suffered by her five children when her husband was jailed for extortion as an outgrowth of his activities in the "protection" ring.

Mrs. Conley said she went to see

Senator McClure when foreclosure of a mortgage on her home was threatened while her husband was in jail.

Canadian Pennies In Quarter Rolls

New Swindling Game Is Being Worked Says Police
Chief

The police department today issued warning to the banks and people of the city against a new type of chicanery that is being used by individuals in getting easy money.

This latest type of getting easy money is to make up rolls of coins such as usually obtained at the bank and receive bills in exchange.

This was pulled off at an Altoona bank the other day, when a stranger presented two rolls of what appeared to be quarters and which are put up in ten dollar amounts. The man received two ten dollar bills for his rolls and left.

When opened the rolls contained Canadian pennies, which are about the same size as quarters. All such rolls should be inspected before exchanging currency for them or accepting them in payment, the police suggest.
